Drama Based Training Solutions,
from the most renowned actor
training school in Ireland.

“Guinness Storehouse’s aim is to provide an entertaining Guinness experience for its many visitors. Through a series of workshops the Gaiety School has worked with us to develop a great platform for engagement and confidence building, creating a great exercise for team building.”

Catherine Keegan, Visitor Experience Manager, Guinness Storehouse

We transfer the methodology used in our 25 years of drama training experience to unlock and improve the potential of our clients through the development of voice, speech, body language, interaction and team-working abilities.

By blending creativity with commercial and professional development needs, we use drama as interactive learning that develops personal skills and approaches social and business issues in an effective, relevant and fun way.

Our successful experiences with Diageo, Enterprise Ireland and the HSE are testimony of the excellence and flexibility of our work.
